is that all that is really worth doing is what we do for others.”*

In Memoriam
Kelvin Ramnath 1948-2012

When Kelvin Ramnath first began representing his constituency of Couva South and serving the country in Parliament, he had just crossed his 30th birthday.

From that day in 1976 onwards, his life was never really to be his own again. And he never regretted it.

A mere 10 years after entering the political arena, Kelvin Ramnath was appointed Minister of Energy, a position he was to shoulder again under a successive government. A petroleum engineer by profession, he held several executive positions in the oil and gas industry. He was a valued member of the Board of National Gas from 1999-2001.

Mr. Ramnath was an inspiration and mentor to many. National Gas extends its deepest condolences to his wife, Debbie, and his family at this time.
